DEPARTMENTALIZATION

Resting on the stage during a study hall was the perfect sanctuary for me, I thought. Where else was it so quiet and dark and just plain relaxing? Then all at once, the silence was broken by dozens of little feet and voices. What was going on, I wondered? As I pulled back the side curtain, I could see Mrs. Lock instructing some 3rd and 4th graders on the different phases of the sun, moon, and earth, using a lamp for the sun, and a ball for the moon. The student holding the moon represented the earth. What better way to find out how this process works than actually seeing it as if you were in the darkened space of the galaxy. Then a twinge of jealousy came over me. When I was in grade school we just read about things like that. What had changed in the grade school since I was there? After looking into the matter further I soon found out

It's called departmentalization. This is a big word that simply means that the grade school teachers can now teach what they are best at all through grades 1-6. While finding four teachers that all specialize in the four major areas seems like an impossible task, 3 of the 4 teachers actually teach in the special field that they trained for. Mrs. Miller became the connecting link in this chain when she volunteered to teach math and spelling since she had had a great deal of experience in all the subjects rather than any particular one

Changing teachers all through the day does look like it could breed some problems. The teachers compensate by each of them looking after all the students. No one teacher is responsible for her group anymore. The "Big Four" all work as a team, that actually runs the grades 1-6

KINDERGARTEN

This is where it all begins. The students of this class learn the basic skills for the rest of their lives. Kindergarten is also a time where natural things like personalities, talents, and abilities emerge as the students make themselves known not only to their fellow classmates, but to the rest of the school as well. It has really been fun for the rest of us to watch these students and remember that we, too, all went through this basic learning and developing stage.

FRESHMAN INITIATION

Monday, September 19 was an important day for the Freshmen. They officially became members of the Weskan High School

The Freshmen came to school Monday looking very strange. It seemed like they had several new girls in class. Some of them were wearing a new fragrance called "Onion on a String." They were paraded through the Grade School singing a song that praised the Seniors.

At 7:00 that evening, the Freshmen participated in the actual initiation; they were fed several new food combinations prepared by the Seniors, after which they had an egg throwing contest. When it was over, everyone was invited to have watermelon in the park.

COUNTRY ROADS 1977

Excitement came to WHS and community in the 1977 Homecoming activities. The taco supper, pep rally, and bonfire Thursday evening got everything off to a good start.

The theme of Homecoming was "Country Roads." The King and Queen were Darrell Welsh, Senior and Marcia Walker, Junior. The other King and Queen candidates were: Tracy Mote, Senior and Connie Rancey, Senior, Greg Unruh, Senior and Tonia Hau-er, Sophomore, Richard Sexson, Senior and Jennifer Baehler, Freshman, Jr. Attendants were: Tabitha Lloyd and Eric Okeson.

The Weskan Coyotes played the Golden Plains Bulldogs on Friday, October 7. The Coyotes whopped the Bulldogs 48-12.

The Homecoming Dance was well attended with music by Marty Melia. Homecoming 1977 left everyone with a feeling that this was the best Homecoming ever.

YOU LIGHT UP MY LIFE

On Friday, April 14, 1977, the Junior Class of Weskan High School treated the Seniors to a banquet at the S & Steak House in Sharon Springs, KS. The buffet dinner consisted of a steak, baked potato, salad bar and dessert. The program began with Marcia Walker reading the welcome, the invocation was by Fonda Cline, the prophecy was read by Sherry Raney, and the class will was read by Karen Nusser.

Following the banquet, the dance was held in the gym of Weskan High School. Morning Dew played from 8:00 to midnight.

The banquet and Prom was an enjoyable evening for all.

OUR DAY

Our day has arrived at last
The time to make our own decisions is near.
Decisions that were made for us in the past
No going back now, the time is here.
Now at long last it has arrived
The day we have been waiting for.
The next step is to be able to survive
The world out there, beyond the open door.
Knowing we will be on our own shortly
We have mixed emotions deep inside.
The days have gone by so quickly
And now we must decide.
What are we going to do, not about this day
But the rest of the days that lie in our way.

CLASS PROPHECY 1978

I was traveling through the Great Midwest, just traveling and picking up a few antiques along the way when I hit the suburbs of the bustling metropolis of Weskan, Kansas. Something about the name was familiar, but I couldn't remember what. I decided to look around and maybe find a few priceless antiques. I drove down what looked like main drag and saw the most astonishing sight. In the center of a group of poly-urethane educational institutions was, believe it or not, an old-fashioned school house made of red brick.

Suddenly, I recognized the name and the school house from my great grandmother's annuals. I stopped to take a look around and because the door was open, I went into the school. This building is very well built and must have much sentimental value for it is obviously out dated.

After looking at the first floor's grade school class rooms, I climbed the stairs for a look at the high school rooms. On one wall I spotted an old picture of George Washington. As I was appraising it, it became a graduation picture. The faces all looked familiar, and before long I realized that this was the graduating class of 1978.

This picture faded from view and in its place another appeared. This picture was of Greg Unruh and Dick Sexson, obviously good friends in high school. I was then told that Dick was a star football player for the New Orleans Saints, and Greg for the Tampa Bay Buccaneers. They will be playing opposite each other in Super Bowl 23.

This picture changed to one of Patty Kyner, now Patty Rogers, for she has married Roy Rogers, Jr. She is still pursuing her artistic hobby, drawing a 10 times larger than life-size poster of her favorite subject, Trigger. As this picture faded out one of Darrell Welsh popped in.

Darrell, I'm told, has just broken Bruce Jenner's decathlon record while his wife Chris and 15 children cheer him on. Looks like Darrell is going above and beyond the Welsh tradition.

Next we see Tracy Mote. He has formed and is lead guitar player of his own rock group, Smooch. Tracy, being the seamstress he is, designed and constructed the group's costumes which are made of pheasant feathers and coyote skins left over from his high school hunting days.

As Tracy fades out, in comes Kent White. He is the biggest attraction of Wild Bill Cody's second edition Wild West Show. Kent is the most famous bull rider of the Great Plains.

Next I see the second of the three girls in this class, Connie Ranev. Connie is the founder and sole stockholder of the newest and popular clothing company in the world. The name, you guessed it, the one that made her most known in high school, STIX'S.

Martin Waugh I see next. Martin has received his medical degree from Oral Roberts University but instead of accepting a position at the ORU medical center, he has signed with the Dallas Cowboys as Medical Supervisor under Coach Paul Wigger.

The next senior of 1978 I see is Clifford Newell. Cliff has just been crowned the new king of Rock and Roll. Finally, someone has been found that can fill Elvis's shoes and drive the ladies wild.

The last girl of this class I see is Gloria Sexson. Gloria has just received a $1,000,000 grant from the United States government for her research on the most efficient method of folding underwear.

Coming into view now is Scott Crotinger. Scott owns his own tow truck and body shop. It seems this helps cut out the expense of having someone put his cars back together for him.

Last of all is Merlin Kuder. The picture didn't know for sure what Merlin was doing, but it hinted that maybe he is parking on the dark side of the moon.

I feel honored to have heard this little bit of unknown history, and I hope that by preserving it in this way, the memory of the seniors of 1978 will always live on.

The school year 1977-78 has been a very profitable year for the WHS Pipeline and annual staff. This marked the first year that the newspaper was self-sufficient and published outside of the school. Also, the staff collected a tremendous amount of ads in order to pay for a previous yearbook debt and this publication. For this and the great amount of patience and hard work of everyone on the staff, I would like to say THANK YOU.
